Music and training and licenses

Hello all

There's been an ongoing debate for ages about what musical licenses are required for what types of venue/ user etc. It would appear that the PRS have now come up with something that works for trainers.

Bear in mind if you are working in a hotel or similar venue the building itself will probably be covered.

But this license ought to work for any of us who use incidental music as part of the learning process and are somewhere like a clients premises where they may not have a license.

If anyone finds out anything else then do let the group know.

regards,

STella
